Dear John Glenn Family,

Good morning and thank you for your time,

No doubt that you have heard about the “Red for Ed” action day set for 11/19/19. “Red for Ed” is a movement across the Nation as well as in Indiana to bring awareness to some of the issues negatively impacting public education. Issues negatively impacting our kids!

Some of these concerns include, but are not limited to: excessive testing, faulty school grading systems, charter schools and vouchers draining resources, lack of social, emotional, nutritional resources for children and families, and Teacher shortages. All of these impact us and our kids here at John Glenn.

We have been working on this locally with our Teachers and School Board. There is great support and confidence in the teachers of our schools. There is also great support for public education and a true need for some change.

However, after careful consideration we have determined school will be in session on 11/19/19. Because of our commitment to children and families we did not feel we should alter the calendar aside from emergency or weather related circumstances.

Additionally, with the full support of the School Board, we will be sending a delegation of teachers to represent us. Our faculty will make sure to speak on behalf of our kids, our communities, and our educators.

The voice and advocacy for public education is so important!

Thank you for your support,

Christopher Winchell, Superintendent
